Benjamin Franklin - Stories of Revolution
The Amazing Dr. Franklin

With a wink and a smile, ol' Ben invites you to breakfast, and over a fine glass of claret, tells stories of his youth, his inventions (lightning rod, stove, bifocal glasses, book grabber, swim fins, first political cartoon), his public institutions (the first: police force, volunteer fire department, fire insurance company, lending library, hospital, educational academy) and people of the revolution (cantankerous John Adams, bilious Arthur Lee, the bumbling British, the fascinating French, the double-dealing Dutch).

Enjoy stories of spies, secret codes, court intrigues, congressional jealousies and America's most clever ambassador, B. Franklin, printer.
